- Backend technologies (Java, Spring, JDBC, Hibernate, Spring boot application)
- Sound Knowledge on CI/CD Jenkins pipeline (Build Automation)

(Project: Angular Blog)

📅 Oct-2023 to Oct

📍 Bengaluru

- I have developed a social media application called "Angular Blog" using Angular, HTML, CSS, and JavaScript for the frontend. The backend is powered by Firebase, including Firebase Database, Firebase Hosting, and Firebase APIs. For designing purposes, I utilized the Figma tool.
- The application consists of two main pages: the user page and the admin page.
- 1. User Page: - Users on the user page can view posts and subscribe to them.
- 2. Admin Page: - The admin page is designed for account owners. And Admins can add, delete, and modify posts.

The application is hosted on Google Cloud Firebase:

- User Page: [Angular Blog - User Page] (<https://ang-blog-90be4.web.app/>)

- Admin Page: [Angular Blog - Admin Page] (<https://ang-blog-dashboard-1201.web.app/>)

- Credentials: - Username: k@gmail.com and Password: 120112.

Continuing the development, I am working on an "Expenses" section where users can input expense types and details. The application automatically calculates the total amount and distributes it among the specified details.
